

DISCLAIMER AND LIABILITY LIMITATIONS

I will do my best to reroot and restore your doll to its former beauty while maintaining its integrity. However, I cannot make your doll new again. Due to the age of the vinyl and the conditions during its life, I cannot predict the reaction of the vinyl to having new hair introduced into its surface. Every care will be taken not to injure your doll in any way. I will make every effort to meet or exceed your expectations. I treat each doll as if it was my own and make every repair with the utmost care. However, results may vary from doll to doll.

I am not responsible for damage to the doll during shipment to me or on its return. If properly packed and insured, this should not be a problem. So be certain to package your doll carefully.

I will take a photograph of each doll received, upon its arrival, for the purpose of establishing its condition. Then another photograph after it has been rerooted and/or restored to establish its condition upon leaving me.

My financial liability for any item sent to me for rerooting or restoration shall be limited to actual collected charges for work performed prior to the damage or other loss.

Signing this disclaimer constitutes your understanding and acceptance of these terms.

This signed notice is required for me to proceed with rerooting and/or restoration and must be included with your doll when shipping.
